

Amy Martin — 200 words bio

Amy Martin (Moonlady.com), a life-long Texan, has forged a varied career in journalism, laced with activism and leadership, and infused with a deep spirituality. A journalist and writer for over 35 years, she is author of the upcoming Wild Dallas-Fort Worth: Explore the Amazing Nature of North Texas for Timber Press and Itchy Business: How to Treat the Poison Ivy and Poison Oak Rash.

Martin is North Texas Wild columnist for GreenSource DFW and covers magic and cirque for TheaterJones. She has been contributing editor for the national magazine Garbage (recycling and features), and has written for Dallas Morning News (recycling), Dallas Observer (music), and D magazine and Dallas Times Herald (performing arts).

For a dozen years, Martin operated an alternative news service, Moonlady News. A leader in Earth-centered and unaffiliated spirituality, Martin was director of Earth Rhythms and creator of acclaimed Winter SolstiCelebrations for 20 years.

Martin is social media chair and speakers/events co-chair for North Texas Master Naturalists, and state social media director for Native Prairies Association of Texas. For 12 years, on a private nature preserve, she converted 15 acres into tallgrass prairie and rehabilitated wildlife habitat. She now volunteers for Dixon Branch Greenbelt in the Eastwood neighborhood.
